A long veil complemented Rebecca's, 29, gorgeous slimline wedding dress.

Marcella, 31, anchored her veil in a stylish up 'do.

Veils

A veil is the perfect accessory if you're after a traditional look, but do keep the style of your dress in mind. A detachable veil is best if you want to remove it after the vows. The weight of the veil may alter your hairstyle so let your stylist know you'll be wearing one.

Jemma, 31, wore her veil higher for a more traditional bridal look.

Melessa's, 29, simple yet elegant 'do was offset with an embroidered veil.

BRIDAL BEAUTY TIP #2:

It's all about finding your perfect make-up match

On the day, it's essential to get your foundation spot on – you want the right type of gasp from guests as you lift up your veil! It could also mean the difference between looking radiant or ghostly in your photos. If you're doing your own make-up, pay a pre-wedding visit to a make-up counter in David Jones or Myer and ask a professional to help you find your perfect match.
